

Donnybrook-Kalkallo

Grave Inscriptions

Photos and data by Tony Lugton 2007

Like most cemeteries in this area of Victoria records were lost or destroyed. Known as Donnybrook this cemetery was a burial ground for many farmers of the District. There are many more burials in the old part not marked by stones but the keen eye can see the many ripples in the flat ground once disturbed by digging. I have found a few more buried here through records these were mostly poor farmers so the true number of burials will never be known.
